

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

The use of public airwaves at anytime, strictly for political purposes is unconstitutional. Large companies control the airwaves, and it is time to change this. We need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. This is why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard.

Regards,

Suzanne Pitts